

Atlanta Motorsports Park Board of Advisors

Maarten Kuik

Maarten Kuik serves as the managing partner of Euram Investment Group, an international real-estate company that keeps offices in Atlanta, Georgia and Rekem, Belgium. Maarten oversees Euram's legal, financial, administrative and commercial activities. In addition, he manages the company's real estate portfolio, which consists of development and investment properties in five states.

Prior to his position with Euram, Mr. Kuik managed operations for Sunclass Bungalows B.V., a resort development company with operations in the Netherlands, Belgium, France, Italy and the Netherlands Antilles. Maarten earned a Masters degree in Dutch Law from the State University of Utrecht in the Netherlands.

David Murry

Since 1981, David Murry has built a reputation as a fast and consistent professional racer. He has successfully driven cars in multiple racing circuits including Formula 1, NASCAR Nextel Cup, American Le Mans Series, Grand American Series, and Grand American Cup Series to name a few.

David started the 2008 race season driving for Autometrics Racing in the Daytona 24 hour race, running as high as 2nd in the first hour and finishing 11th in a field of over 40 cars. Following Daytona, he has competed in all of this year's ALMS GT2 races, driving a much anticipated Ford GT for Robertson Racing. His career began in Formula Fords, leading to the Sports Renault series, and on to Le Mans. In prior years, he drove factory vehicles for some of the top racing manufacturers in the world: Nissan, Lotus, Porsche, and BMW. David resides with his family in Atlanta, Georgia.

Rebecca L. Powell

Rebecca has over 30 years of operations experience in the transaction processing industry overseeing service management, risk management, in-house sales, employee training & development, and operational consolidation of more than 120 merger and acquisition transactions.

Rebecca began her career at the National Data Corporation, now McKesson, a healthcare data company offering health care information sharing technologies. Starting in an entry level position, she progressed through the ranks to Director of Operations, before leaving the company. She then served for 2 years as VP of Operations for MerchanTech International. In 1990, she joined Nova Information Systems as one of the 12 original members of the company. Under her management, Nova was successfully brought to public offering and later acquired by US Bank as a wholly owned subsidiary. Rebecca retired from Nova as an Executive Vice President in 2002.

Since 2002, Powell has spent her time bettering the lives of others in Forsythe County, Georgia, mentoring at the Forsyth County Mentoring Program and providing career guidance to participants of Train for Change, a non-profit "last chance" program. She is currently President of The Place of Forsyth County, a family services United Way organization.

Rebecca and her husband John reside in Cumming, Georgia and have three children and seven grandchildren.

David D. Seem

David Seem has held a variety of leadership positions at Fortune 100 companies including Pirelli and Owens-Illinois, as well as directing smaller entrepreneurial businesses. Currently, David is the Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer at Miller Zell, a retail consulting firm located in Atlanta, Georgia. Since 2005, he has been responsible for all financial reporting, cash management, internal controls, and tax compliance for the company.

Prior to Miller Zell, David acquired and then served for seven years as the CEO of DataForce Software, a company specializing in computer systems and software for human capital firms. David successfully doubled the company's revenues in five years, ultimately selling the company to a strategic buyer in 2005. In 1994, working with the private equity firm Cravey, Green and Whalen, David acquired MEDEAS Medical from The BOC Group, Ltd, which at the time was a $50 million medical products division. As COO, David grew MEDAES to $100 Million in revenue and sold the company to Hillenbrand Industries in 1998. David holds an MBA from Duke University and a BA from Gettysburg College. He is currently the Director of the South Fulton Chamber of Commerce.

Jim Traner

Jim Traner has been active in the banking and real estate industries for 28 years and is currently a partner with the Atlanta brokerage group Apache Capital, LLC.

Prior to Apache Capital, Jim worked for Chase Manhattan Bank in a number of capacities, including its international banking department (New York City, Jakarta, and Taipei) and its domestic commercial real-estate lending branches (Florida and Georgia). His success at the global banking giant led to a role at Coopers & Lybrand, now Price Waterhouse Coopers, working on their national real estate restructuring program. Jim also consulted for Wells Real Estate Funds in both acquisitions and dispositions of commercial real estate. .

Jim is a graduate of Wichita State University in Kansas and holds a Masters degree from Thunderbird School of Global Management in Arizona. He resides in Dunwoody, Georgia with his wife and two daughters and is a member and participating deacon at Dunwoody Baptist Church.

James C. Scott, Jr.

James C. Scott, Jr. began his career in 1967 at C.W. Matthews Contracting Co., Inc., the largest highway contractor in the state of Georgia. After first working as a job cost accountant, James' rose through the ranks of the company, eventually being named chief financial officer and then Executive Vice President. Today, he is president of C.W. Matthews's parent company, Matsco, Inc., which in 2007 boasted revenues exceeding $800 million.

James also has extensive experience in the banking industry. In 1983, he was elected to serve on the Board of Directors of First Bank & Trust Company in Marietta and was intimately involved with its sale in 1995. James served as both an originator and director of the First National Bank of West Metro and currently holds the same titles at the First Choice Community Bank in Dallas, Georgia.

James graduated with honors from the University of Georgia with a BBA in Accounting. He serves on the board of the Southern Polytechnic State University Foundation.

Amanda Leonard

Amanda Leonard is the Executive Vice President of Human Resources and Public Relations for SSP America, a world-wide operator of food and travel locations in airports, railway stations, bus terminals and roadside locations in more than 35 countries. Amanda is responsible for human resource strategy, recruitment, retention, policies, trade union management, public relations and media outreach for the company.

For more than 18 years, Amanda has successfully implemented employment structures for retail, hospitality and travel concession businesses in Europe and the United States. Prior to SSP America, Amanda worked in a number of executive capacities at Compass Group, PLC, a global provider of contract food and support services. As Vice President and United Kingdom's Human Resources Operations Director, Amanda was responsible for human resource strategy, employee and customer measurement, and resourcing and leadership development of 120,000 employees.

Amanda has served on several corporate boards spanning full service hotels, restaurants and quick casual service brands including Moto Hospitality, Little Chef, Travelodge and Harry Ramsden's. She resides with her family in Charlotte, North Carolina.