We were invited to the track design introduction of AMP this past Thursday. This complex is advertised as “the country club for people who live in the FAST lane.” The track will be nearly two miles long, with a straightaway over a half mile long, elevation changes that total 141 vertical feet, and a precision timing system and driving control tower. If you’re interested in driving in a safe, controlled environment where the only limits are your driving skills, your nerve, and your car’s capabilities, check this out at atlantamotorsportspark.com.
